

214 high school bands that already travel for parades

Built from published parade lineups and Bands of America results, matched to federal school records, and ranked for an Orlando Veterans Day invitation. Nothing on the list is guessed: every school carries the page it came from.

How the list was built

Lineups from the Rose Parade (2015–2027), the Philadelphia Thanksgiving parade, the Hollywood Christmas Parade, Houston's H-E-B parade, every Bands of America Grand National finalist since 2018, and news reports that name a school band in Macy's or an East Coast holiday parade. Schools appearing in more than one are merged into one row with their full history.

Colleges, drum corps, honor and all-star bands, military and community bands, middle schools, and non-US groups are removed: 180 groups set aside.

A director's name or email is recorded only when it is printed on the school, district, or booster site with the title band director. Anything less is left blank on purpose.

What is missing, and the fix

PARTIAL Macy's and Chicago official lineups. Both sites block automated access, so Macy's appearances come only from news reports so far. Someone opening four pages in a normal browser and saving them fills in both.

PARTIAL Contacts. Only one director email and three names met the strict rule. Most schools list staff without the title next to the address. Your call on whether a district staff-directory entry counts.

PARTIAL 41 schools without a state (Hollywood lists names only) and 60 without a website in federal records, so no contact search was possible for them.

How schools are ranked

- 30 Number of major parade appearances
- 20 How recent the last appearance was
- 20 Proximity to Orlando: Florida first, then GA, AL, SC, NC, TN
- 15 Has flown a full band cross-country (Rose, Macy's, or Hollywood)
- 15 Bands of America Grand National finalist years
- +5 A published band-director email

Weights are a single settings block and can be retargeted for another parade in minutes.

Decisions we need from you

- 1 Is the Universal Orlando Veterans Day date confirmed, and for which year?
- 2 How many bands can it take, and is there a size or audition requirement?
- 3 Who do you reach first: director, booster president, or district fine-arts lead?
- 4 Does Florida-first geography match how you sell, or should Texas rank higher?
- 5 Any schools already under contract, or never to be contacted?
